

Note for the Examinees and other stakeholders regarding conduct of Examinations on working days

The University received some applications and emails from a section of learners requesting to conduct the Master Degree Examinations only on Sundays. After considerable deliberations on the matter, it's decided that change of dates is not possible at the moment for the following reasons:

1. As per the Examination calendar, the examinations were scheduled in the month of August, 2022, but could not be conducted because all other previous examinations were postponed due to the unprecedented flood in the state.
2. If the Examination is rescheduled only on Sundays it'll be over by the end of October, 2022 as there are Puja vacations in October, 2022.
3. Already learners are behind their scheduled time and if this examination continues for more than one month the total programme duration of the Master Degree programme for the learners will be more than two years, which will be against the greater academic interest of the learners.
4. It is observed that, very often, different other recruitment and other Examinations are conducted by the Government and also other agencies on Sundays and as such it become very difficult to get proper Examination centres all over the state on all Sundays.
5. Many learners of KKHSOU (mainly those in the defense sector) work outside the state and have to take leave from work to appear in the examinations. If this examination continues for more than one month it'll be difficult for them.
6. As we all know that though there is no formal class in ODL and only the counseling classes are held on Sundays, but there is no such fixed provision for the Examinations and the learners may have to appear in the examinations on week days also, like any other ODL universities.

The prime concern of the University is to maintain the quality of the Examinations and to conduct all Examinations smoothly on time, as far as possible, and make the learners able to complete the programmes within the stipulated duration.

In view of the above, it is expected that all the learners will cooperate and appear in the examinations as per schedule in their own interest.
